

REPUBLICANS ARE READY TO DRIVE CAMPAIGN FAST

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

E. P. Fogarty, Chairman.
John H. Wise, Henry Freitas
John L. Jones, J. P. Dias
U. N. Jones, Oscar P. Cox
Edgar Henriquez, M. J. Serpa and Harry Francon, ex officio.

Republicans are ready for a thorough and aggressive, even if short, campaign. Last night the county central committee met and organized with E. P. Fogarty of the civil service commission as chairman, Edgar Henriquez, one of the defeated candidates for the nomination for supervisor, vice chairman, Harry Francon, treasurer, and M. J. Serpa, secretary.

E. P. Fogarty was unopposed for the chairmanship, other candidates withdrawing after a consultation that was held in the afternoon, and no opposition developed to any of the other officers, all being unanimously chosen. Several speakers, among them some of the defeated candidates at the primary, promised hearty and untiring support to the entire ticket and chairman.

Following open letter to voters: "To the Republican voters of the City and County of Honolulu.

"Gentlemen—As I have been selected to conduct the campaign for the election of the officers of the city and county to be held next month, I wish to say a word to the Republican voters of this city and county. After a fair election and the decision of the majority of the people, a splendid ticket has been selected to represent you for the next two years. Already, however, there has been talk that a split ticket should be voted, especially among the board of supervisors. Against this, in the name of the Republican party, I earnestly protest.

"Primary elections are for the purpose of deciding who shall be selected as our candidates by the majority of the Republican voters. Individual preferences should always give way to the will of the majority, as only in that way can a representative government be obtained. The Republican party has not nominated a single candidate for the board of supervisors of whom it need be ashamed. The fifth district is represented as well as the fourth and the wishes of the voters should be loyally supported by the people of the community. To hear from some of our better element and those who claim to influence the better element that any candidate of the party should not be supported, is to encourage the defeat of the very person whom that better element wish to see elected.

"The Republican party can be depended upon, if returned to office, to give this municipality a clean, business administration and the candidates can be depended upon to work together in harmony if elected. "With the large sums of money appropriated by the legislature and the enterprises already begun by the present administration, it is of vital moment that harmony should prevail among the elected officers. The Republican voter must do his share by loyally supporting the entire ticket and the man who fails to do so is not working for the best interests of the city.

"Yours truly, "E. P. FOGARTY."

Chairman Fogarty announced that he would name the executive committee this noon and at 1:30 p. m. gave the Star-Bulletin the list as it appears at the head of this article.

WOMEN OF CITY PLAN LEAGUE TO HELP TERRITORY IN FOOD CRISIS

war was declared. Her motion, which was seconded by Miss Agnes Judd and unanimously carried, calls for all the women's organizations of Honolulu to be banded into the league, regardless of nationality.

The call for a mass meeting of the women of Honolulu of all races was sounded by Mrs. A. J. Campbell, acting president of the Outdoor Circle, and was enthusiastically taken up. She advocated the meeting as a means of getting the women of all nationalities interested in the food commission's campaign to exercise economy in the purchase and use of foodstuffs, and buy foodstuffs grown in Hawaii in preference to imported varieties.

Mrs. Campbell chairman. A motion was passed appointing Mrs. Campbell chairman of the committee to correlate all the women's activities and arrange for the date and place of the mass meeting, which, it is expected, will be attended by more than a thousand women, as the membership of the Outdoor Circle alone consists of 500 women. Mrs. Campbell said after the meeting that she was told the Bijou theater had been offered for the meeting. The date is to be announced later.

Chairman James D. Dole of the territorial food commission called the meeting to order at 9:35 this morning. Every chair was occupied by the women delegates several minutes before the meeting opened. What Not to Plant. In his opening address Chairman Dole said he desired to emphasize the opinion of the commission against the indiscriminate planting of lettuce, radishes, carrots and other perishable vegetables. He urged the planting of something which will take the place of foodstuffs now imported from the mainland, "whether it is something which will feed a man or cow; something which will pull down Hawaii's $8,000,000 imports." He recommended planting staple and nonperishable foods such as navy beans, pigeon peas, alfalfa and peanuts.

"Methods of economizing will occur to you women more readily than to us," he said. "We will merely point to the possibilities in the line of cutting out late suppers and unnecessary meals, substituting taro and sweet potatoes and bananas for white potatoes and in general using Hawaiian grown products in place of imported, making meals simpler and so far as possible lighter. Preliminary investigation would seem to indicate in Hawaii the advisability of a slight but not excessive reduction of the meat consumption, but a rigid effort to reduce the consumption of white potatoes and breadstuffs, and especially white flour."

Chairman Dole then introduced Maj. Chas. S. Lincoln of the Hawaiian department, who urged the women to serve meat only once a day, to stop the use of veal, as each calf killed reduces the future meat supply of Hawaii by several hundred pounds.

"Reduce the number of dishes at all meals," he said. "Take the three-course dinner the proper thing. Go back to the habits of our grandparents and teach the children to eat all of the food on their plates before they ask for more. Make it the proper thing for the women of Honolulu to do their own marketing. Buy what you need and no more. Use fresh food rather than canned, where possible. See if you cannot help your merchants in reducing the cost of delivery. Guard against the temporary production of vegetables, consequent stopping of purchases from your truck garden and the forcing of him out of business. If the proper way to do it is to make it fashionable to know your kitchen, then let's adopt it. All Honolulu women should know thoroughly the ins and outs of their kitchens; what foods are prepared, how prepared and whether used to best advantage.

Dr. Arthur L. Dean, executive officer of the food commission, then addressed the meeting. He asked all the delegates present to see to it that every bit of food is utilized to the utmost capacity. He said frequent statements will be issued, through the press, as to how best to do this, and said if there is a demand for it, he will be glad to arrange a series of lectures about composition of foods, and suitable dietaries.

Governor Lucius E. Pinkham was the next speaker. He told how for three years past he has tried to impress the people of Hawaii with the necessity to get the territory's food supply here. He told how there was only from 10 days' to two weeks' supply of flour in the islands when the mainland railroad strike threatened. The governor declared that those who have the land should hasten food production and realize their responsibility. "We must solve our own problem first, and then we will be in a position to help those on the mainland," he concluded.

Two specific instances of how faulty is the present system of getting foodstuffs grown here to the consumer were given by Lorrin Thurston, who declared that Hawaiian onions have been rotting in the bins of the territorial marketing division, and in the fields, when California and Australian onions here were bringing exorbitant prices. He urged the women to buy Hawaiian onions first, as their duty to Hawaii. Thurston also said splendid taro, 300 acres of it, is rotting in the fields of Kona, Hawaii, because the growers cannot sell it or even give it away. "There is a hold-up here between the producer and consumer," he said; "an exorbitant profit which the intermediate man is evidently making."

When Chairman Dole asked for remarks and suggestions from the women representatives, a number made pertinent talks.

Mrs. Clifford Kimball said she knows that good white potatoes are grown in the islands; that she asked for island grown potatoes at the Walrus store, the dealer replying that he had nothing but California potatoes. Mrs. Kimball said she did not buy.

Mrs. F. J. Lindeman asked if the inter-island freight rates might not be exorbitant and thus discourage growers from shipping foodstuffs here from the other islands.

Chairman Dole said this was one of the problems the commission intends to take up. Mrs. Arthur G. Smith said the Y. W. C. A. is doing excellent work in teaching how the foods of Hawaii may be used to best advantage.

Inquiries concerning fish prices were made by several women. Chairman Dole replied that "there is something very strange about the fish situation, and we hope to get to the bottom of it before we get through."

Harold Rice of Maui spoke encouragingly on white potato growing on the Valley Island. "After two months there will not be an Irish potato imported on Maui," he said. "We are getting a better yield by 40 per cent than they get from the best potato fields in Maine."

Women were quickly disposed of by the colleagues. All in all the debate was very interesting and the audience maintained a dignified silence during the entire time.

Preliminary to the debate F. Alameda, president of the St. Louis College Literary Society, gave a little discourse, outlining particularly the aims of a debating club.

As a compromise had been reached that judges for this debate should be men who had no connection whatever with both schools, the following judges were chosen: Hon. Judge W. L. Whitney, Prof. A. L. Andrews of College of Hawaii, J. A. Rath, headworker of Palama Settlement.

The decision for St. Louis was unanimous.

The following were the speakers: Affirmative (St. Louis)—Dermont Macconnel, Henry Lan Tan, Richard H. Pui; negative (Mills)—K. Doi, Edward H. Pui, Louis Choo.

The timers were George Hanenberg (St. L. C.) and Y. Sakuma (Mills).

Will Probe Into Brutality Charge

A meeting of the civil service commission has been called for noon Wednesday to discuss routine business, chief among which is Capt. George R. Clark's complaint to that body of alleged brutality to sailors by Honolulu policemen.

Relative to this matter a letter was received by the commission yesterday afternoon from the sheriff as follows: "Gentlemen:—In reply to your letter dated May 12 and received by me on May 15 referring to the alleged mistreatment to enlisted men of Pearl Harbor by policemen, I beg to state I have made a careful investigation and can find no justification for such charges. I am having affidavits made by the men and will send the same to you."

Sheriff Rose said this morning that the affidavits of his men would open the commissioners' eyes.

Isaac H. Kemper of Texas, and Norman Mayer of New Orleans, were

GERMAN ALIENS RESPONDING TO LATEST ORDERS

To Date 72 Have Filed Applications for Permits to Secure Residence

Applications of alien Germans for permits to reside or do business in the local restricted areas are steadily increasing and up to noon today 72 persons had filed their names in the office of the United States marshal.

Publication in the Star-Bulletin of the warning and notice issued by United States Attorney S. C. Huber had a telling effect and, since the day of publication, Deputy Marshals Heine and Silva have been swamped with work. Alien Germans are responding promptly to the instructions and it is expected that the registration will be completed by the end of this week.

Aliens residing in the restricted areas are not the only ones who are registering, however. To date the names of large number of aliens employed in local business houses have been entered in the marshal's record. In these cases it is necessary that the employer give certain information regarding the employee.

As reported in the Star-Bulletin yesterday, the permits probably will not be issued until the return of Marshal J. J. Smiddy, as the instructions require that the marshal must sign all permits in person.

All German aliens must be in possession of their permits on or before June 1.

FANCY DUCKS ARE BIG TEMPTATION

It was good weather in Honolulu for ducks Saturday and Sunday for some, but certainly not for Manuel Soper, chief of detectives. To be more explicit: Thieves stole some ducks, Soper lost them and McDuffie is hunting for them.

Saturday night Soper's pretty little feathered kingdom was robbed of two magnificent Indian runners, both about six months old. Sunday night two Muscovy birds, about a month and a half old, disappeared. Naturally Soper feels pretty bad about it.

Yesterday McDuffie despatched Detective Henry Silva to look over the situation to see if there were any clues or duck tracks hanging around. Silva says the clues have disappeared as completely as the ducks. Soper does not like duck weather.

DIAMOND HEAD ROAD NEEDS REPAIR; CITIZENS URGE CITY TO ACT NOW

An urgent petition that the city repair Diamond Head road has been sent to the mayor and supervisors by residents and owners of property along the road. The petition with signatures follows:

"We, the undersigned residents and owners of property on the Diamond Head road and in the district of Kalahele and Kalahele, desire to call your attention to the present bad condition of the Diamond Head road.

"In view of the increasing travel over this road during the summer months; and also as the drive around Diamond Head, from a scenic standpoint, particularly since Kalakaua avenue has been improved, is one of Honolulu's most beautiful attractions, we feel that our honorable board will not consider it an unreasonable request that at least some repairs be made to the road before its present bad condition becomes worse.

"We are fully aware that the road in question is within the Diamond Head Army Reservation, and we do not ask nor expect any great expenditures by the territory. As the military authorities, however, would not doubt appreciate having this road temporarily repaired, we believe they would be willing to allow the requisite material for repair work to be secured practically at the points needing improvement, which would make the cost of repairs to the road by the territory very small."
